“ Angela, this is so surreal. You, Gretchen & I forged a pact to start having a Girls Day on a regular basis. The first one was at your place. You cooked Spanish cuisine (Delicious)! We drank, laughed, joked, ate and became "instanr" sisters! We shared personal stories about our lives, children, educations, families, upbringing, careers, loved lives (past and present). It was a breath of fresh air to be transparent with one another. We were attempting to find other things to do versus "playing bingo" and we had found it--QUALITY TIME with one another!!

Remember the time we went to SAMS, then to dinner and Jonathan MADE us go to The Yard Milkshake Bar afterwards for ice cream eventhough we were FULL? We were stuffed BUT SO HAPPY. We laughed and complained all the while enjoying THE COMPANY. I took for granted that we would have many more of those times but God needed you MORE than we did. Little sister, you are now at rest. Sleep well... I miss and love you UNconditionally!!
