I met Chris in 1972-73 when she came to work as a nurse at Lake Taylor Junior High which is now Lake Taylor Middle. She was such an inspiration to me. As a chubby child, she was very instrumental in implementing a health & wellness program in the school where other chubbies like myself could participate in healthy meals during school & workout sessions after school. Our friendship flourished from that point as we remained friends and in contact with each others over the years. Chris would never sugar coat things & I loved her for keeping it real with me. I will forever be grateful to God for allowing our paths to cross & for blessing me with such a friend in Chris. My prayer is that the Lord will continue to bless & strengthen her family in the days to come. Go on Chris, take your rest, we all regret losing you but God knew best. My friend forever!

It's been a year since my friend left this side of Jordan and checked into her mansion not made by hand! Through my tears I have to remind myself that even if she could return to this side Chris would say to me, Sylvester, I love you and everything, boy... you gonna have to meet ME on this side!!! 😊
